Universal Studios Singapore Halloween Horror Nights 14 unveils Ponti-Ana, electrifying live shows, sinister eats, and exclusive merchandise

In addition to the previously announced contents, a new nightmare awakens at Universal Studios Singapore Halloween Horror Nights 14 as the event introduces a brand-new character, Ponti-Ana, inspired by the legendary Pontianak ghost. Guests will be drawn into an electrifying night of scares featuring three live shows, including the return of the iconic Scaremony and the debut of Universal Studios Japan's horror sensation HamiKuma. Beyond the thrills, a tempting selection of themed food and beverages, exclusive event merchandise, and hyperlocal collectibles promise even more ways to embrace the thrills.

Ponti-Ana awakens as Universal Studios Singapore Halloween Horror Nights' new Scream Queen of the Undead

Universal Studios Singapore Halloween Horror Nights' Ponti-Ana, makes her debut in 'Nail the Beat', joined by horror-sensation HamiKuma as they fill the air with devilish beats to raise the dead.

Southeast Asia's biggest scream fest welcomes a new scream queen this year – Ponti-Ana, whose story begins at The Raveyard. Buried long ago with a sacred nail driven into the back of her neck, Ponti-Ana has now been awakened by the pounding bass and dancing crowds above. With the sacred nail finally removed, she is unleashed in a terrifying rebirth, drawing the ghostly Fatimah Rockers to rise alongside her. Equal parts terrifying and cute, Ponti-Ana takes centre stage in Nail the Beat, the high-energy live show at The Raveyard immersive zone, where every beat brings the living closer to her curse. Joining her is Universal Studios Japan Halloween Horror Nights icon HamiKuma, the wildly popular, zombie teddy bear with mysteries lurking inside his open belly – making his first ever appearance at Universal Studios Singapore. Together, they transform The Raveyard into a hypnotic nightmare from beyond the grave.

The Scaremony returns alongside a sinful new spectacle at Club PanDEMONium

The fan-favourite Scaremony is back, bringing with it a chest of horrors that will release evil into the park.

Back by popular demand, the event's opening Scaremony returns with a vengeance. A group of thrill-seeking streamers break into an abandoned warehouse, unaware of the evil they are about to unleash. As malevolent forces begin to take shape, fans will come face to face with the sinister entities now roaming the park. With the streets descending further into chaos, Club PanDEMONium beckons, drawing guests into a night of wicked revelry, infectious rhythms, and unrelenting energy in this live stage spectacle. At Hell's hottest club, only the most sinful can survive the wrath of KHAOS, a theatrical demon and judger of souls. Whether dancing to the beat or soaking up the atmosphere, guests can immerse themselves in a night of music and madness.

Bites, beverages, and take-home horrors

Between encounters with nightmarish creatures and pulse-pounding thrills, guests can sink their teeth into a line-up of themed food and drinks. This year's local icons get their own frightful feasts – inspired by Ponti-Ana, the Kampung Lemak Chicken Burger is a charcoal-bun creation stacked with fried chicken, sambal chilli, fried egg and more, and the Kampung Raspberry Soft Serve Ice-cream is a raspberry and cherry soft serve topped with cookie crumbs and dark chocolate. The karang guni continues to terrorise guests with The Karang Guni Feast, crispy fried chicken served with blue pea coconut rice and masak merah gravy, and Kopi Guni Afterlife Shake, a blend of thick local kopi-gao, kaya milkshake, cendol, and red agar jelly. Another original concoction, the Kia Si Antidote, offers a playful dose of lime and green apple-flavoured, non-alcoholic courage for even the most kia si (a popular Hokkien phrase meaning "scared to die") of souls.

Fans can shop a range of Ponti-Ana apparel and accessories such as cardholders and pouches.

After indulging in the night's sinister culinary creations, guests can continue their Universal Studios Singapore Halloween Horror Nights journey with an exclusive line of event merchandise launching ahead of the event on 17 September 2026. Among the must-have items this year is Singapore's hyperlocal collections, including the Halloween Horror Nights Kia Si T-shirt and keychain, as well as Ponti-Ana apparel and accessories such as cardholders and pouches. Fans of HamiKuma will also find plenty to look forward to, with plush backpacks, popcorn buckets, and headbands, and more, inspired by the cult-favourite character.
