Resorts World® Sentosa celebrates the 12 days of Christmas

Festive cheer includes the tallest Christmas tree, non-stop entertainment and food treats

SINGAPORE, 22 November 2010 — Resorts World Sentosa (RWS) will be transformed into an enchanting blue-and-silver-themed musical Christmas carnival this December. Singapore's tallest Christmas tree will take centre stage and visitors can expect to celebrate a musical Christmas at RWS.

Singapore's tallest 'singing' tree

Standing at a formidable 11-storey high, the main Christmas tree at the resort's Bull Ring™, a sheltered public space along Festive Walk, is an architectural feat in itself. And it sings too! Some 30 carolers will surround the base of the tree with 'live' performances from 26 November onwards.

Canopies and trees along FestiveWalk will be aglow with iridescent embellishments, creating a magical backdrop that will bedazzle everyone from tiny tots to silver-haired grown-ups.

During the 12 days between 14 to 25 December, guests can also look forward to a line-up of more than 10 non-ticketed 'live' acts at various venues around the resort. Local and international artistes will entertain as the countdown to Christmas begins.

The Drummer Boy

Entertainers include the internationally renowned Emmy-award winning clown Unique Derique, known for his unique blend of Hambone Body Drumming; Victoria Chorale, one of Singapore's best semi-professional choirs; country & western band Matthew and the Mandarins; and the 18-member Ministry of Bellz, whose forte is making angelic music with an assortment of bells.

"This is Resorts World Sentosa's first Christmas, and we plan to celebrate it in style," said Andrea Teo, Vice President of Entertainment. "For the entire month of December, we have assembled a terrific line up of performances and promotions that will get everyone into the holiday spirit. There will be non-stop entertainment that is different from anything else in Singapore."

Universal Appeal

Singapore's only international theme park takes on a new theme. Guests at Universal Studios Singapore will enter a Christmas-coloured world of red, green and gold. Lavish wreaths will line the boulevards of Hollywood and New York while a 10-metre tall Christmas tree will tower over the fountain at the heart of the theme park.

More than just milk and cookies this Christmas

Visitors will be spoilt for choice with the wide range of delectable cakes and pastries that will be created by the resort's own chefs. A symphony of sweets includes the Raspberry Ivory Logcake, Caraibe Logcake, Gingerbread House, Christmas Stollen, Fruitcake, Pudding, chocolate pralines and cookies.

For those who love their Christmas meats, there's the traditional Christmas ham and turkey which will also be available for order and pick-up from the Boulangerie, starting from the 1st of December.

With indulgence in mind, guests can treat themselves to specially-themed Christmas menus at the resort's many restaurants. There's a Latin American festive barbeque buffet at Fiesta, an authentic Tuscan Christmas dinner at Palio, an International buffet at Starz featuring Christmas delights, a gastronomical 7-course set dinner with wine pairings at Australian celebrity chef Scott Webster's Osia restaurant and more.

Catch the music and magic of Christmas at Resorts World Sentosa.
